

BANGOR WHIG.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 20, 1839.

ELECTION SEPTEMBER NINE.

FOR GOVERNOR

EDWARD KENT.

WHIG CAUCUS.

The Whigs of Bangor are requested to meet at the City Hall, on TUESDAY Evening next, at half past seven o'clock, for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend the Convention to be held at Lewiston, on Thursday next.

Per order,

CYRUS ARNOLD,
H. D. CUSHING,
JOSEPH L. KIRKLAND,
JOHN R. GREENOUGH,
JOHN LITTLE,
THOMAS N. EGERY,
E. L. LEBRETON.

August 19.

The Whigs of Bangor are reminded that the Caucus for the election of delegates to the Convention, is to be held on THIS EVENING. The primary meetings of the people are important, and we trust the Caucus to-night will be fully attended.

THE ISSUES BEFORE THE PEOPLE.

As our annual State election is approaching, and the people are soon to be called upon to select the men who shall fill the offices of the State in the Executive and Legislative departments, and possibly, and even probably, through these an increase of the Judicial departments, we think it important to bring before the public mind for the consideration of the people, some of the great issues upon which they are called to decide.

The approaching election, unlike most others for several years, seems to be left, at least by all excepting the leaders of the locofoco party, exclusively with the public press; and it becomes therefore, the more important that we begin in season, and labor with proportionate zeal, and in addition, that we may have more of the public attention, than under other circumstances, we should have a right to expect.

The election of our State officers has an important bearing, not only upon the character and prosperity of our own State, but also, upon that of the United States; and thus upon each separate State in the Union. What then, are the great questions in the general government in which the people are interested? The people, surely, are interested in sustaining, not only the form, but the spirit of our republican institutions; and they must therefore, be heartily opposed to that system of political machinery that places the power in the hands of the President to name his successor, or the use of that power that shall secure a re-election. They must be opposed to that disposition in the head of this great and enterprising people, to intercept the business and prosperity of the country, for the special benefit of its higher officers. They must be opposed to those unholy pledges to one section of the country, against the interests and moral sentiments, and political principles of another section. They must be opposed to that vile system of appointing men to office for the purpose of sustaining the influence of party, after those men have been condemned by the people, who know them best—to the appointment of members of Congress to offices of honor and profit in payment for party subserviency. They must be opposed to that general extravagance which pervades almost, if not quite, every department of the general government, by which the money of the people is lavishly used for unnecessary luxuries for the servants of the people; to that looseness in conducting the finances of the country that exposes its treasure to be plundered by a host of heartless and dishonest officials; to the caravan-like travels of the chief executive for the purpose of gaining the votes of the people by great personal attentions, to be followed by official insolence; to that unjust and miserable prejudice attempted to be excited among the poor against the rich and one class against another; to the system of rewards and punishments in political matters, which have been so generally adopted and practiced upon. They must be opposed to the squandering policy with regard to the public domain, which of right, belongs to the whole people, by parceling it out to the States where it may be situated, or to speculating political squatters. In short, the people must be opposed to all those doctrines and practices not in accordance with the fundamental principles of our republican institutions and government.

And of course they must be opposed to the men now in power in the general government, notwithstanding they may have assumed the name of Democrats, and republicans. But looking beyond names, into the principles and practices of men and parties, they must be satisfied that the measures and practices of those in power are not such as honest minded people, who love republicanism for itself, and not its name, can approve.

NEW ENGLAND GAZETTEER. The sixth edition of an excellent Gazetteer, by JOHN HAYWARD, has just been published. Mr. Rodgers who is interested in the publication of the work is now in this city and will offer the same to our citizens in a few days. We have examined the volume with considerable attention and can cheerfully recommend it to our readers. It embraces a great variety of matter, important to the traveller, the man of business and the student. It contains a description of all the cities and towns in the New England States, and besides this, there is a full description of all the principal mountains, rivers, lakes, capes, bays, islands, harbors, &c. in our New England territory. The statistical facts give important information which cannot be acquired from any other book, and are alone worth the price of the volume which is only $1.50. The typographical execution, the binding, and the whole arrangement of the Gazetteer gives signs of great care, labor and research on the part of the editor and publishers. From the examination we have made, and from the recommendations we have seen, we think we may recommend the volume before us to every man of intelligence, not less for the clearness of the information contained in it, than for the care and correctness exhibited in its statements.

The Boston travellers in noticing the work says, that its materials have been "obtained from the almost innumerable number of sources from which works of this description are usually made up." The Traveller, in further recommendation of the work adds:

"Some compilers throw together in chaotic mass the materials thus afforded, with very little regard to the accuracy of the dates, taking upon trust whatever relates to the subject matter in hand, that may fall in their way. Such is not the course pursued by Mr. Hayward in the preparation of his new Gazetteer. He has not only consulted volumes and local histories, written letters, and availed himself of the ordinary means of acquiring the requisite information, but has performed long and tedious journeys over almost every part of the New England States, and by personal enquiry and observation, obtained information that can be implicitly relied upon for its truth and accuracy. Mr. Hayward deserves the most substantial encouragement for his indefatigable exertions in this department of literature; and this, the best effort of his talent, enterprise and industry, cannot fail of securing a patronage as extensive as its merits are unequivocal. Every honest New Englander, whatever his business or occupation, will find this work exceedingly valuable, and almost indispensable for a work of daily reference."

ALABAMA. The Mobile papers of the 7th inst. have no doubt of the success of Mr. Dillett, whig, over General Murphy, locofoco.

In Montgomery county, heretofore a strong locofoco county, the whigs have elected their whole ticket for the Legislature and for county officers. In this district there was no candidate run for Congress in opposition to Dixon H. Lewis, the old member, locofoco.

Baldwin county gives Locofoco only 19 majority in 1837 it gave 147 locofoco majority, showing a whig gain of 128. The locos elected their State representative by only five majority. The whig gain for Senator in Montgomery county is 214.

There are five members to Congress to be chosen. In the first and second districts there is no opposition to the locofoco candidates. In the third district, George W. Crabb, the old whig member, is running against Harvey W. Ellis, loco. Crabb was elected over Ellis at a special election in 1837, by about six hundred votes. The contest is spirited, but the probability is that Crabb will succeed by a re-election. In the fourth, Dixon H. Lewis is re-elected. In the fifth district, represented in the last Congress by Francis S. Lyon, the candidates are James Dillett, whig, John Murphy, locofoco. Mr. Lyon was elected in 1837 as a whig, but on most questions except the sub treasury, he voted with the administration. He started as an independent candidate at this election, but withdrew a short time since. The district at the State election in 1838 was nearly balanced. The contest will be close and doubtful.

TENNESSEE. Polk is elected Governor of Tennessee by about one thousand majority. The Whigs have elected seven members to Congress, and the locos six, and it is expected that a majority of the Legislature are of the locofoco order.

NORTH CAROLINA. The whigs have elected six members to Congress, the locofocos, seven. A. H. Shepherd in the 9th district is defeated by 63 majority.

The Democrat wishes us to take notice that Colonel Andrews has returned. It is done. But before we make any comments, we shall wait and see what says the locofoco papers of Oxford county, which handled the delinquent pretty severely a few weeks since.

The Democrat copies from the Argus a circular purporting to come from a committee in Lincoln county, and addressed to Mr. It is suspected that it is either not genuine, or else one of last year's growth. We hope it may prove to be no forgery, and that the whigs of Lincoln county are really waking up.

The Canada thistle may be entirely destroyed by cutting them when in the blossom and applying salt to the inside of the stalk. As this thistle is always a nuisance particularly in gardens, and as this is the season for destroying them according to the above suggestion, we give the intelligence for the benefit of those who wish to rid themselves of a mischievous weed.

The Maine Farmer, we notice, on the authority of Mr. Whitman of Readfield, states that the "white weed" may be eradicated by the application of a strong solution of salt in water poured upon them.

Dr. Barstow, at Mount Hope Garden, has a new and beautiful plant in full bloom, the seeds of which were given to him, by an accomplished foreigner, a few months since. Those who love to look upon a rare and lovely flower would do well to examine this gay and delightful stranger.

FIRE FROM THE RAYS OF THE SUN. The boarding house of Mrs. Broome, in Hartford, was set on fire on Sunday last, by the sun, and several articles of clothing, a chair, &c. consumed. The fire was communicated to a partition in the attic, by a pane of glass in the fan light, which formed a convex lens, and brought such a focus to bear upon some clothing hanging on the partition as to set them on fire.

A man in Mississippi stole a horse and being overtaken and arrested, begged to be killed. He was tied to a bed post while his captors took breakfast. In his absence he got hold of one of their pistols, and shot himself through the head.

Bugbee, at No. 10 Smith's Block, prepares and puts up an excellent article of black sand. Those who want will call and try it.

For the Whig & Courier.

Yesterday afternoon, as Mrs. Smyth and Mrs. Moulton, in a chaise, were descending Institution Hill on Hammond Street, the horse suddenly started and ran down the street at a very rapid pace, as far as Billing's Avenue, when the horse turned up the Avenue, overturning the chaise against the fence by Dr. Abbot's house, and throwing both the ladies out forcibly upon the ground. Mrs. Smyth was very seriously injured in her head and arm, though to what extent has not yet been precisely ascertained. Mrs. Moulton escaped with a slight injury.

This is the third accident of the kind which has happened within a short time on that hill, all which have come near resulting fatally. Accidents of a less serious kind are also of frequent occurrence there. It is certainly a matter of much surprise that our City authorities should, for so long a time, permit a street of so much importance as this, constituting as it does one of the most important avenues to the city, to remain so grossly out of repair. On no street is there more heavy teaming than on this, and the travel upon it with carriages, is scarcely less than that on any other, yet our municipal authorities have authorized it to remain for year after year, in a state to render all travel on it actually dangerous in the extreme. For this gross negligence and delay there is no excuse. Every other avenue is graded and finished and appropriations are continually being made for these important streets and for those on which there is scarcely any travel at all and which are of no public convenience or necessity.

We are glad to learn however that the subject is now before the City Council, and that but a few minutes before this accident happened, the Board of Aldermen, by an unanimous vote, agreed to an appropriation for the amendment of the street. We regret to learn however that the Common Council have refused a passage in the order. A committee of conference have the matter now under consideration and we trust they will do whatever lays in their power to give the act a proper direction, and thus save our city from the disgrace of longer having so great a nuisance amongst us, and also remove the continual liability which we are under of being heavily mulcted in damages for our unpardonable neglect.

A severe north east storm was experienced in New York on Friday. Most of the vessels at anchor in the bay, dragged their anchors, and a number were driven on shore. The wind blew a gale, and the rain fell in torrents.

More Sub-Treasuryism. The Rushville, Illinois, Phoenix, of the 27th ult., says: "The postmaster at Huntsville, we learn this morning, has been arrested upon the charge of purloining from the mail, goods and chattels which did not rightfully belong to his office. Further comment is unnecessary."

[From Winslow's Young Man's Aid.]

QUALIFICATIONS FOR A WIFE.
DOMESTIC VIRTUE. No young woman is fit to be married till she has learned to keep house. It is as much of an impediment for a parent to put off a daughter for a wife before she has learned the domestic virtues, as it would be for a medical or a clerical body to put off upon the community a man for a doctor or a minister, who had not learned his profession.

It is not maintained that the wife must do all the housework, but she ought always to know how to do it. She cannot know without some experience.

Every mother ought to teach her daughter practically how to keep her house in order; how to make bread and do all kinds of cooking; how to economize, so as to make a little go a great way; how to spread an air of neatness and comfort over her household; how to make her husband's shirts and mend his clothes in a word how to be a house keeper. Then, if she has no domestics, she can make her family happy without them; if she has domestics, she can effectually teach them how to do things as they ought to be done, and make them obey her. She can then direct her domestic affairs, and thus be a mistress over her own house, which sad to say now a day many are not. Domesticness as certain whether their mistress knows how to do things; and if she does not they have it in their power, and almost always do take advantage of it.

I am aware that this will be considered by not a few, a very old fashioned and vulgar doctrine, it is difficult to forget the good old times, when we had such excellent bread, so little trouble about servants, and so much real domestic comfort, because our mothers were so vulgar as not to have learned that there is a better and more genteel way than the Bible teaches when they really supposed an essential characteristic of a good and accomplished wife, that it should be said of her, she looketh well to the ways of her household, and eateth not the bread of idleness. Her children rise up and called her blessed; her husband also, and he loveth her. Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou excellest them all.

Seek a wife then, of domestic virtues, if you would know domestic happiness, or be able to live well, within your means. You may generally (not always) know the habits of the daughter in this respect, by knowing those of the mother; there are also other and surer ways of ascertaining them. But notwithstanding your utmost sagacity and vigilance, you may possibly be caught. I know a man who was very sure he would never marry a lady till his own eyes had actually seen her make a loaf of bread who after all, married a person who, it was said, could not cook him a dinner to save his life, or even darn her own stockings.

But the domestic virtues need not, by any means preclude the highest and most accomplished education. Some of the intelligent, refined and finished ladies in our land, have been the most excellent of housekeepers.

From the National Intelligencer.

At this moment, besides the President of the United States himself, the following high officers of the Government are absent from the city, and will continue absent for some weeks, viz:

- The Secretary of State;
- The Secretary of War;
- The Secretary of the Navy;
- The Attorney General;
- The Postmaster General.

The Globe, in allusion to this paragraph, says, the President can as well fulfil his duties at Saratoga as at Washington. Could not Mr. Adams have done likewise at Quincy? Yet he was not permitted, by the rabble route controlling the Globe, to visit the shade of his family without all sorts of ribaldry poured out against him.

Mr. Woodbury is now the Government, and as he is said to be in the hands of the Bank of America of this city for his daily bread, we do not see on the principle of the Schoolmaster, who claimed that he ruled the country, because he whipped the boy that governed the mother, who ruled the father, who was Chief Magistrate of the nation; but that the President of the Bank of America, is a fact, and for the time being, President of the United States.

MURAT CALLED TO HIS DEATH

Whilst poor Murat was thus engaging the attention of his attendants with these important reminiscences, so incontrovertibly true, the door of the chamber slowly opened, Giovanni Della Casa entered, and with downcast eyes, announced that sentence of death was passed, and would be executed in half an hour.

Joachim beheld the speaker with perfect calm, not the slightest change was visible in his countenance, not for an instant did he lose the presence of mind. He met the hideous features of this far more terrible of deaths with as much indifference as he had faced it when it was disguised under the trappings and the panoply of war. Taking in his hand the cornelian seal on which was graven his wife's image, he gazed on it and kissed it, and then again, dwell on the miniature features of his four children on which he then held in his hand right after death; he taken from its grasp and given to a wife, and the miniature to be buried with him, he walked erect into the room of death, in which were drawn up in double file dead soldiers. The musketeer had not yet been loaded, and upon this brilliant operation King Joseph stood, looking as though he were upon parade. The proposal made to him of being blindfolded, he mildly rejected with a smile, then placing his right hand which grasped the effigy of his family, upon his breast, he exclaimed in a calm strong voice, "spare the face, and at my heart!" Twelve musketeers advanced to the words, and sent twelve balls into the breast which had never harbored any other feelings than those of generosity, benevolence and virtue.

The engraved cornelian and the pictures were taken from his strong death grasp. His mutilated remains, together with the portraits of his family, were buried in the very church which had been erected by his munificence.

Such was the deplorable and atrocious end of the illustrious warrior, whose death had respected in more than two hundred battles. He was in the forty eighth year of his age, and the eighth of his reign over Naples. Maceroni.

Wm. M. Price in Paris. A friend recently from the French capital, informs us that that bright particular star of locofocoism, William M. Price, Esq. is shining with dazzling though somewhat lustre, in the gay saloons of the gayest city in the world. He has lately purchased, for a summer retreat, a beautiful villa on grounds, about 6 miles from Paris, while he occupies as his town residence, at an exorbitant rent, a splendid hotel in the most fashionable part of the Champs Elysees, the grand metropolitan locale of the French aristocracy. Probably locofocoism has never before been so brilliantly represented in a foreign metropolis. Only think, ye sons of St. Tammany, of your "democratic" station being domiciled in the quarter of the French noblesse, and being called "my lord" by all the sans culottes of Paris. Why, the universal frame of locofocoism ought to tingle with sympathizing rapture at the munificent manner in which its distinguished representative is supporting the dignity of the family. Whose splendid mansion is that? Alas! the locofoco's? Whose elegant carriages and rich liveries are those? Alas! the locofoco's. Mon dieu! But what is a locofoco? This will come the explanation of all the peculiar privileges and facilities enjoyed by the official members of the tribe, and so shall proselytes be added thereto, and the cause gain ground among those who love the "larger liberty." New York Times.

Less than a year ago, Mr. Price was flourishing away at the Springs. Two cottages had been erected, connected with, and in view of the United States Hotel. One of these was built for Mr. Price, and the other for Swallow. The latter was absent, but Price was in his glory. There were those however, even thus early, who distrusted them. On one occasion we have the story from Colonel Hise, formerly from Kentucky, but now of Louisiana, at a dinner party, the conversation turned upon the subject of government debtors and locofoco sub-treasurers. Mr. Price to keep very patriotically against them, and was so peculiarly earnest that Colonel Hise broke forth with the exclamation, "I bet you a bottle of wine that you will be a defaulter and run away yourself before the first of January." Some of the company laughed at the remark as mere badinage. Price looked rather affected and discomfited at the imputation, and wished the remark retraced. But Colonel Hise persisted in the prediction and they parted. Scarcely two months had passed, before the absconding of the one made a prophecy of the other. N. Y. Com. Adv.

The grossly partisan sentiment of the President, denying to the majority of the people of the Union who have rejected his financial scheme, the quality of disinterestedness, has been justly qualified as unstatesmanlike and undignified, and "unworthy the head of a free people." But we have no where seen the audacious sentiment more happily rebuked than in the late letter of Mr. Leigh to the Nansmond committee:

"Those who feel an interest (says Mr. Leigh) in the security of private property honestly acquired; in the growth and increase of national wealth and prosperity, and in the purity and exaltation of the national character, do not, I apprehend, belong to the class of disinterested men, according to the President's opinion of men and things. In his estimation, I dare say, those only are disinterested who are prepared to sink or swim with him, whether they approve the leading measure of his administration, or think that it jeopardizes the balance of the Constitution. When the Chief Magistrate deliberately offered that public insult to the large body of his countrymen, who he must know disapproved his favorite measure, he forfeited the respect which was due to his station, if not to his merit, and no longer deserves to be treated with delicacy." Balt. Chron.

To New England Editors and Publishers. The publisher of the Boston Almanac proposes to furnish for that publication for 1840, a complete list of all newspapers, magazines, etc. printed and published in New England, in order to get the desired information, he requests the Editors or Publishers to send him one number of each of their respective publications, for which he will send them in return, (when published) a copy of the Boston Almanac, for 1840.

Will editors in the New England States please give this an insertion, and send a copy of their publications to S. N. Dickinson, 52 Washington street, Boston?

TAVERN STAND FOR SALE.
ON the tenth day of October next, at two o'clock P. M. on the premises, with the stand to be sold, to the highest bidder (unless previously sold at private sale), the well known Tavern Stand in China Village, Kennebec County, Maine, formerly known as the Marsh Hill House, but now called the CHINA STAND. Said stand consists of a large, convenient, two-story dwelling house, two a barge, one and three fourths of land, first rate garden spots, on the road from Augusta to Bangor, 20 miles from the former, and 45 from the latter place. The stand changes horses four times a day, and the Mail stage passengers take supper every evening at this place. It is in the centre of a beautiful village, and an excellent stand for a Tavern. It is now occupied by Mr. George Ricker, rents for five hundred dollars per year. Payments will be made easy—one third dollars will be required down, the remainder in small payments annually, for a term of years, if required by the purchaser.
Reference, Gen. Alfred Marshall, China Village, who built, and formerly occupied said house, of Rufus Chase, China, or the subscriber at the Post Office, Hallowell.

MORTGAGEE'S NOTICE.
THE undersigned hereby gives notice, that on the second day of February 1890, Wm
Smith of Exeter, in the County of Penobscot, his deed of that date, recorded in Penobscot Registry, book 75, page 237, mortgaged to Tri-um Burnard Jr of said Exeter, a certain lot of land, situated in said Exeter, it being a part of number one, in the seventh range, in Exeter, it bounded as follows, viz: Beginning on the north line of the county road at the westerly corner of Francis W Rogers's line on said road, thence north and along, thence northerly on the line of said Rogers's land twenty three rods, thence northwesterly parallel with the north
line of said road eight rods, thence southwesterly, thence on the north line of said road to the ends therein mentioned, to secure the payment of the mortgage herein described, that said mortgage assigned to me by said Burnard, and that the conditions therein contained have been broken, therefore claim to foreclose said mortgage.

TAKE NOTICE ALL.
WESTON'S celebrated PATE DE CHOC-
OLAT, ou Pare de Cacao.
This excellent preparation of the Cocoa Nut is particularly recommended, not only on account of the great facility with which it is made ready, and for its peculiar richness of flavor, but more especially on account of the light and salutary nutriment it affords, the Oil of the Nut (which is the ordinary made Cocoa or Chocolate separates, thereby offends the stomach, and counteracts its otherwise beneficial effects) is in this preparation completely neutralized and rendered harmless, at the same time possessing its superior qualities.
